

SUNDAY

Closer CHOICES

Casualty 1909

▲ 9pm, BBC1 We do like a decent Sunday-night period drama to curl up in front of, and this one transports us back to the dark old days of 1909. Back then, the average life expectancy was only 45 and one in seven kids didn't live beyond 10 years old (and we thought we had it bad with MRSA!). With suffragettes and anarchists out on the streets, it's all kicking off at the London Hospital with Nurse Russel (Sarah Smart) struggling to cope with her patients, not to mention a cocaine-addicted surgeon. SUSANNA GALTON

e for your call, Sir!"

ppborough
he field (Sandi
her grass.
(Stephen
with water
WRIGHT