

Casualty 1909

BBC1 • 9.00pm

Edwardian doctors often prescribed a swift dose of pulling yourself together or several months at the seaside under a tartan rug. But as this period drama returns, even the least sympathetic quack at the London Hospital would concede that bomb victims need drugs. Unfortunately, there may not be any left, because dashing surgeon Percy Dean is a cocaine fiend and spends as much time ransacking the pharmacy as performing operations...
